The second amendment, requiring the Company to refund the interest paid on its bonds was also rejected; yeas ..., nays 92. The substitute was agreed to without division. The Bill as thus amended passed; yeas 141, nays 50. Cox suggested that the title be changed so as to read "A Bill to give a Railroad Company ... ... with ... In the House there was an excitement over the report of the Committee on Printing on the Senate resolution to print ... 000 copies of the American case presented to the Geneva Arbitration. The Committee recommend printing one half the number fixed by the Senate resolution. Cox wanted the printing to include the counter case and all correspondence. Some members suggested that it would ... one hundred thousand dollars. Cox asked what is the use when the Government is going to back down. Butler of Mass said, what is the use of printing a gone case. Cox suggested that the resolution be recommitted for the present, as the country wanted to see the British case. Banks wanted the Senate order adopted. Beatty moved to recommit the resolution. The last substitute was rejected and the Senate resolution to print 20 000 copies was passed.

Political News.

Fernando Wood, Chairman of the Congressional Caucus, referring to a newspaper statement that the Convention at Cincinnati is in the interest of Charles Francis Adams, asserted that there are no Democrats in Congress in favor of Adams and gave the opinion that the Democratic Convention will nominate a separate ticket if Adams is chosen in Cincinnati.

It is understood that the Democratic National Convention will be held in St. Louis on July 4th though neither time nor place are formally fixed yet.

EASTERN STATES.

Lawlessness in Missouri.

HEATING, Mo., April 24.—A mob of seventy five or one hundred armed men, some masked, stopped the eastern bound train on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad at Gunn City, Cass county this evening and murdered J. R. Cline, J. C. Stephenson and S. L. Dutra. Stephenson was presiding Judge of the County Court when the recent ... ... was raised. Cline was an attorney implicated. Dutra was killed simply because he was in company with the others. The mob threatened to kill any who hereafter identified them either in court or else where. They said they had just commenced their work of murder.

Indian Trouble.

M PHERSON, Neb., April 24.—Six Indians made a raid here this evening and ran off seven head of horses. Buffalo Bill with 20 picked men of the 3d cavalry will start on their trail at day light to-morrow morning with ten days rations.

As the trader understood the Polaris was not homeward bound but returned through stress of weather, or want of coal or provisions. All were well.

Jim Mace declines to accept O Baldwin's offer to fight at an early day, as he requires eight weeks training, but stands by his agreement to fight on July 16th.

The chair in which John Adams sat when he signed the Declaration of Independence will be sent to Cincinnati for the use of the presiding officer of the Liberal Convention.

Paris denies that General Calbo ... is with Carlos and it says that he is still here and will not join the present movement in Spain.

Evening.—It is believed here that the impending struggle between Government and Carlists in Spain will be severe. It is estimated that 10 000 insurgents are now in the field. Don Carlos' wife accompanies him.

The French Government has placed a cordon of troops along the frontier to arrest any Spanish refugees found on her frontier.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—The Committee of 100 are making arrangements to properly receive the St. Louis railroad delegation on their arrival to-morrow evening.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN STATES.

The Cincinnati Candidate.

CHICAGO, April 25.—A Tribune special asserts that the entire press of the city which support the Liberal movement are united in supporting Charles Francis Adams as the nominee of the Liberal Republican Convention, and its correspondent—truth—asserts that from the utterances of prominent leaders of the movement now in Cincinnati Adams can doubtless be nominated.

The Times of this city, commenting upon Adams' letter to Wells, regards it as finally settling the question of his candidacy in the negative.

The New York World yesterday came out in a leader warmly endorsing the proposition to nominate Adams, declaring the belief that he would secure the entire Democratic vote.

The gathering at Cincinnati has already commenced and all the hotels and many boarding houses are already engaged to their full capacity. The press of the country is already largely represented, and by the end of this week many of the State delegations will be on the ground.

One thousand Mo. politicians are announced to leave St Louis on Monday, and the delegation from that State, which will be the most numerous of any, has secured the entire St Johns Hotel for their accommodation.

Friends of the Administration are confident that the growing diversity of opinion among the supporters of the Cincinnati movement will culminate at the Convention in such a disagreement as will result in a dissolution of the various interests composing it into the original elements and insure the utter failure of the movement.

The Arctic Expedition.

CHICAGO, April 25.—The Times publishes correspondence from St Pierre, Newfoundland, of the date of April 15th, giving intelligence of Hall's Arctic expedition up to the 1st of March. The Polaris had been compelled to return to Greenland in consequence of having sprung a leak caused by collision with an iceberg about the middle of February. It required the united exertions of the crew, officers and all the members of the scientific party to keep her afloat. The health of all on board was good. She returned to Disco.

Indirect Damages.

NEW YORK, April 25.—A Washington special says that Secretary Fish is willing to agree to the withdrawal of our indirect claims if the principle of international law is to be accepted by both nations and made a part of the Treaty of Washington, that no neutral shall be liable for consequential or indirect damages for injuries inflicted on the commerce of friendly powers with each other. It is doubtful, however, whether the President would consent to this view.

Sir Edward Thornton is expected to return to Washington to-day. The Secretary of State especially requested him to return and confer upon an important matter, and it is believed to be the proposition above stated. The subject has been informally broached to Sir Edward, who expressed his hearty acquiescence. He said there was no doubt of the British Government's consent.

A cable dispatch has been sent to Lord Granville, and if a reply is received to-morrow the whole question will be submitted to the Cabinet. It now seems probable that the whole matter will be settled at an early day on a very satisfactory basis.

The Attorney Generalship.

CHICAGO, April 25.—A Tribune Washington special says there are intimations of an effort being made to secure the removal of Attorney General Williams, or at least there are some powerful influences at work in that direction.

The same special has the following: "Attorney General Williams is considerably angered at the statements continually being made to the effect that he is going to Oregon for the purpose of purpose of looking after the Senatorial election there in his own interest; that while he will go to Oregon to aid in securing a Republican successor to Corbett, whose term expires this session, he purposes remaining in the Cabinet, and will not be a candidate for the Senate until Kelly's term expires.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—The police to-day arrested an old fellow known as Joe, who had erected an altar on the summit of the hill back of Mission Dolores and attempted to hire a hoodlum to play the part of Isaac to his Jacob, but failing in this purchased a sheep and sacrificed it and burned the carcass, as he alleges by divine command.

The trial of the noted desperado Procopio for cattle stealing commenced at San Leandro to-day.

Three hundred men are now engaged in cleaning and repairing the steamer ... now in the dry dock.

A Mormon Judge's Decision.

SALT LAKE, April 24.—The motion to release Brigham Young on habeas corpus was argued to-day before the Mormon Probate Court. The Judge overruled all objections as to his power in the case and decided that all proceedings in the U. S. Courts in the Territory for the past two years are illegal and void. He was of the opinion that the people of the Territory ought to govern themselves; that the Supreme Court of the Territory had transgressed and abused its powers, and he would not respect any of its decisions, and therefore ordered the prisoner to be released. The U. S. Marshal entered a solemn protest against the rulings of the Court and gave notice that the case would be carried up on certiorari.

It is proposed to serenade Brigham to-night.

The Walla Walla Statesman furnishes the following: Mr Knowlton, one of the engineers on the line of the Walla Walla Railroad, has found a large number of bones in an excavation about ten miles this side of Wallula. Mr Marks at once jumped from his bed, but only in time to see the burglars leave the door they had entered. Chase was made, but the rascals succeeded in getting away with their plunder.

Another Dollinger.

M Junqua, a French Catholic priest residing in Bordeaux, and a doctor in theology, who has been prosecuted for an offense against religious morality in sundry articles published in a French journal, has addressed to the Cardinal Archbishop of Bordeaux a protest against the new doctrines of the church. He glories in following into the arena of controversy the illustrious Dollinger, the great orator Hyacinthe, the brave Abbe Michaud, the learned Abbe Egly, the apostolic Abbe Antonio Aguayo, ... a pleiad of wise doctors and priests, who in Germany, in France, in Switzerland, in Spain and in Italy have repudiated their share of responsibility in that prodigious apostacy committed against all reason, and without even the feeblest hope of accomplishing any good among the masses hostile to the church or indifferent to her creed.

Father Junqua announces the hierarchy that decreed the dogma of Papal infallibility is heretical and claims that himself and his old Catholic associates are the true depositaries of the faith. The bishops of the Ecumenical Council by their vote in favor of the dogma of infallibility have abdicated their mission. M Junqua announces the organization of a committee at Bordeaux, affiliated with committees at Paris, in Spain, Switzerland, Italy, Russia, Belgium, Germany, England and the United States, which serves as the organic basis of the "old Catholic" movement. The bold reformer himself is engaged in an energetic propagandism of his doctrines from the pulpit and through the press in the city of Bordeaux. This movement is especially remarkable as showing the extent of the reaction of the spirit of freedom against authority in the Roman Catholic church. The movement is assuming formidable proportions.

We are told that Mrs Laura C. Redden complains through a New York paper that American women eat too much horse radish and too many pickles at lunch. As Miss Laura C. A WONDERFUL SURGICAL OPERATION.—The European papers are full of the details of a wonderful surgical operation which has recently taken place in a public hospital in Paris. A Mr. Rodun was wounded in the face by a gunshot, the bullet hitting the nose near the zygomatic arcade. The excessive cold weather of the season provoked an erysipelas, which soon became very dangerous. One of the eyelids had to be removed in several operations from the subciliary tissue to the under part of the orbit. That part of the eye called sclerotica was laid quite bare. Doctor Labbi undertook a remarkable autoplastic operation, which consisted in removing several pieces of skin from the arm and applying them at an interval of several days, over the eye. This system of human grafting proved a complete success, the eyelid performs its functions to perfection and has a very natural appearance. This operation is without precedent, and Dr Labbi deserved much praise for his skill and boldness.

SPEEDY AND REMARKABLE CURES.
Still Another Testimonial from a Prominent Citizen of Greenville, Washington County.
TO THE AFFLICTED.—I WISH TO STATE THAT for nine years I was a great sufferer with Nasal Catarrh, Throat and Lung Disease, had discharges from my head, Cough, great difficulty of breathing, pains through my chest and Dyspepsia, was constantly getting weaker and losing flesh. No treatment seemed to relieve me. Hearing of Doctor Aborn's great success, I decided to try his skill in my case. On the 23d of January last I visited Portland, and placed myself under his treatment, and found immediate relief of my pain in the breast, and the difficulty of breathing was also relieved at once and I have continued to improve from day to day until now I feel quite well. I can breathe freely through my nostrils, which were almost entirely closed. My lungs are healing rapidly. I can now breathe quite clear and easy. I have gained about eleven pounds. My general health has been so much improved that I look and feel like a different man. I have been able to plough and do other work on my farm during the last three or four weeks without experiencing any difficulty. I am satisfied that the doctor's mode of treatment is based upon scientific principles, and calculated to cure these diseases after the ordinary plans of treatment have failed.

I wish to state that for ten years I was deaf in my left Ear, and by submitting myself to Dr Aborn's treatment for a few days I have had my hearing restored so that now I can hear the ticking of a watch quite a distance from my head. His treatment gave me no pain whatever. I reside near Springville.

[illegible] DAY M[illegible] APRIL

A Conference at Cincinnati

[illegible] estal lish [illegible] [illegible] ngers [illegible] scantious [illegible] be readers in the organization [illegible] which th[illegible] associat[illegible] In short they hope [illegible] only a part wh[illegible] [illegible] chiefs an[illegible] [illegible] great [illegible] There will be several house [illegible] disappointed politicians raked [illegible] their [illegible] all parts of the country but [illegible] them

This faction of malcontents [illegible] exclusively on the Democratic vote It builds its entire hopes on the supposition that it can get the entire Democratic vote of the country for the candidates it may nominate In all its calculations the Democratic vote is its chief factor It expects to compel the Democracy to vote solid [illegible] for Davis for Charles Francis Adams or for any other life long but now dissatisfied Republican whom the Cincinnati Conference may name For it is known of course that this movement will carry off but a paltry few Republican votes Its [illegible] is the Democratic party

After the Cincinnati conference [illegible] the Democracy are expected to [illegible] their Convention to accept Adams or whoever else may be nominated at Cincinnati and to recommend him to the Democracy of the country for support But will such an attempt to [illegible] off the whole Democratic vote be successful? Can the transfer be effected? Can those who make the contract deliver the goods? That is to be tried But we think there is little probability that it can be done

The gathering at Cincinnati will represent all shades of opinion and all colors of theory It will have no fixed, established principles which will serve as a band of unity As the movement is without substantial cause and has its origin simply in a multitude of petty interests opinions or personal disappointments, there is nothing which will serve it as a common basis for united action No political movement can be more than spasmodic which is not founded on convictions that take hold of the popular mind The singular absence of such convictions in this movement is a most conspicuous feature of it Gen Grant and the Republican party represent every real interest and purpose which can be necessary for the peace, safety and prosperity of the country Commenting on the recent meeting at New York to promote the Cincinnati movement the New York Herald said

The conditions of our political parties are alike adverse to a successful fusion of the opposition factions and to a general popular reaction Against all the opposition elements combined Grant is stronger now than was Jackson in 1832, and upon our existing financial system and the financial condition of the Treasury and the country, and upon the issues depending upon the money question in all its bearings, President Grant is as strong in the confidence of the country as is General Grant upon his achievements as a soldier There will be no political revolution in 1872, because there is safety in the administration and there is danger outside At the same time we incline to the opinion that, as in 1832 and 1836, the opposition factions instead of fusing upon a common ticket, will be divided upon two or three and that the Democratic party will not be sold out to the anti-Grant Republicans, because upon their promissory notes they will fail to provide any satisfactory securities of redemption

Speaking of the recent investigations into the conduct of the administration the Washington Republican says "No administration has been submitted to a more severe and searching inquiry—no administration has come out from such a trial with purer or better record The Covode investigation when it closed, left a stain upon the Democratic party which that party has not yet been able to wash out or remove The investigation into Millard Fillmore's administration in 1852, and investigations prior to that and dating as far back as 1826 into other administrations so damaged them that at the succeeding elections they were repudiated by the people The examination and inquiry into the administration of Gen Grant so far from weakening it in the opinion of the people of the country has only strengthened it and made it firmer The refutation of the slander and vilification that has been so freely made upon public officers has given the President an additional hold upon the confidence and the support of the people

We find this going the rounds of the Eastern press and do not remember to have seen it before

The last story about Joaquin Miller is to the effect that he was recently introduced to Jesse Applegate at Eugene City Oregon as "the poet of the Sierras who after winning [illegible] Europe had returned to Oregon to grace it with his presence etc" but Jesse astonished the hangers on by remarking "I have known Mr M[illegible] before He edited a secesh paper during the war which was suppressed by the Government for its rebel principles"

Uncle Jesse should have [illegible] for Nesmith and his [illegible] job [illegible]

From the [illegible] we learn that [illegible] Wilson has started for Southern [illegible] his appointments for speaking w[illegible] Mr [illegible] nett He was delayed several days at [illegible] by acute rheumatism and was unable to move Richard Williams Esq of Portland filled Wilson's appointment at Eugene and Mr Mallory of Salem filled his appointment at [illegible]akland Mr Wilson went up to Eugene on Tuesday though he was still [illegible] so acutely as to require the assistance of two men in walking

San Francisco [illegible] railroads [illegible] and proposes to amend it by building railroads [illegible] We commend it to the [illegible] which is [illegible] satisfied with railroad [illegible] Oregon but which unlike San Francisco [illegible] has any cause [illegible]

S W Brown of Vancouver [illegible] and date for delegate to Congress from Washington Territory [illegible] very useful and creditable delegate The Republican Convention will meet [illegible] the 29th [illegible]

The conundrum of the day here is who [illegible] Jasper Johnson to Cincinnati to participate in the Anything to beat Grant Concert

German Papers on Mr Schurz

Many of the newspapers of Germany have published articles on the course of Senator Schurz [illegible] deprecating it as calculated to need[illegible] [illegible] the relations of the United States and the German Empire The [illegible]

We are glad that he [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] explanations from [illegible] for the sales of [illegible] arms to France during the war and [illegible] that so [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] demanding that he shall call the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that the United States [illegible] neutrality laws by permitting these [illegible] Mr Schurz [illegible] [illegible] by his remarkable [illegible] speaker [illegible]—a [illegible] by a man [illegible] the United States—was an authority on international law We prefer Vattel and [illegible] on that subject and think the honor of Germany is safe in the hands of Prince Bismarck

The following is an extract from an article in the [illegible]

The New York correspondent of the [illegible] Berlin overflows with admiration of Senator Carl Schurz and pretends to believe that by attacking the President of the United States [illegible] complicated business (the French arms sales) he has rendered signal service to his fatherland We think otherwise Practically these [illegible] of they have taken place in the manner charged by Senator Schurz were of little consequence to this country but what is of very great consequence to us is that we should remain on the friendliest possible terms with the United States Senator Schurz is working hard to prevent this and for that he should not be thanked and glorified by any liberal minded German If anything were needed to show [illegible] one has only to read the Berlin [illegible], which has conceived a very sudden but by no means inexplicable admiration of Senator Carl Schurz

In similar spirit is the annexed from the [illegible]

Carl Schurz is an overrated selfish and ambitious man who (as the present affair (the French arms sales debate) shows cares very little for the fatherland If he feels so shocked at what the War Department in Washington has done for France during the war—more shocked indeed than the Chancellor of the German Empire—why did he not raise his voice against the sales of these American arms in the Senate of the United States when it was time to stop them? It seems that his indignation dates only from the moment when he fell out with President Grant, whose election he now wants to prevent

And now comes the report that Jasper Johnson has gone to Cincinnati He has been missing from Portland for a week Before his departure he whispered mysteriously we are told, that he was going to Cincinnati to represent Oregon Very appropriate representation But who sent him?

The British "Case"

A London dispatch of the 18th gives a very full synopsis counter case as presented to the Geneva Tribunal We give it here

Part First begins by announcing that to the American imputations of hostile motives insincere neutrality etc England has no reply whatever to offer England distinctly refuses to discuss these insinuations because it would be inconsistent with her self respect irrelevant to the main issue and tend to influence the controversy England's governing desire is to fulfill, and even to exceed her international duties nor will any reference be made to the claim for indirect damages, as a correspondence with regard to them is pending between England and the United States England assumes that the claims are limited to losses occasioned by the Florida, Alabama, Georgia and Shenandoah but does not object to the introduction of the names of the nine other rebel cruisers added to the list by the American case She calls attention to the fact that none of these vessels have previously been mentioned No award is possible for the depredations of the Boston and Sallie, which are on the list but not mentioned elsewhere in the case of the United States and which were probably inadvertently included The Board of Arbitration is reminded that its conclusions must be formed on proofs not allegations and that evidence must be sifted That the statements of American Consuls are credible when made with regard to facts within their own personal knowledge, but unreliable when dealing with rumors Consuls in their zeal and indiscretion shared the irritability generated by the war and erroneous views throughout the struggle colored their reports England rejects as evidence the papers captured in Richmond the authors being unknown

Part Two details the American argument It disputes the proposition that a neutral power is bound at the request of a belligerent to enforce its municipal laws, and add to them if they are insufficient It maintains that reparation is only due for appreciable injury, resulting from a violation of international duty It is unable to attach a distinct meaning to some twelve propositions in the American case and it demurs to the exceptionally rigorous application made of the propositions to England It urges that at the time of the Confederate war the mere sale and delivery of a vessel adapted for war to a belligerent was not a violation of neutrality On this point it accepts the rules of the Treaty of Washington, notwithstanding the overstrained construction put on them by the Government of the United States but according to their obvious purport It regrets that the United States should seek to [illegible] the interpretation of these rules to the uttermost instead of accepting them in a fair and reasonable sense It argues that England was bound to receive the Alabama as she would a vessel of war of any sovereign State and concludes by quoting from Ortolan, an eminent French authority on international law to show that the principles for which the United States contends were never heretofore seriously asserted or recognized in Europe or America

Part Three treats on the precedents adduced in the American case and replies with others such as the filibustering attacks of Lopez on Cuba of Walker on Mexico and Central America and the Fenians on Canada History on this subject is a history of unlawful enterprises originating in America with American citizens American privateers from time to time have harassed England Spain Portugal Mexico Central America Cuba and Canada

Part Four considers the various complaints made of [illegible] in munitions of war with the South [illegible] [illegible] British ships etc

Part Five gives the history of the cruisers [illegible]

Part Six gives an account of the [illegible] with the details of the escape It seeks to show that the time between Adams' notice and the Alabama's departure was too short to justify a claim of negligence and claims that in this respect England cannot be charged with any failure of duty

Part Seven quotes the history of the Shenandoah [illegible]

Part Eight relates to other vessels and repudiates responsibility for their depredations

Part Nine treats of the reception of rebel cruisers in British ports and defends the conduct of Great Britain by comparing it with that of other nations

Part Ten after recapitulating the [illegible] arguments of the preceding parts declares the claim for interest on the damages awarded [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] take into account [illegible] the utmost those specially arising from the capture and destruction of ships and property

[illegible] describing the situation of anxiety [illegible] which neutrals would be placed in [illegible] war should the doctrines [illegible] in the American case prevail the [illegible] [illegible] that a frank [illegible] statement of facts [illegible] misunderstand [illegible] between the two nations which are allied by innumerable ties

The East Portland [illegible] is [illegible] the diaphragm [illegible] the [illegible] Herald with the sharp stick of [illegible] wrath How beautiful [illegible] for Democratic brethren to dwell in harmony

SHORT PARAGRAPHS

Senator Logan says that the published statement that he has declared his intention of supporting the Cincinnati movement and that he will go to the Convention is untrue At the proper time he says the country will know what his political views are and whether he will sustain the present [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Cincinnati

It is stated that the number of English silk umbrellas smuggled into America yearly by tourists and employees of the steamship companies has been increasing so rapidly that the New York trade has been thoroughly ruined and there is hardly a [illegible] that can afford to keep a stock Nearly every passenger returning from Europe brings several silk umbrellas for himself and his friends without paying duty

It will be recollected that at the close of the rebellion a number of Southerners left the United States for South America in disgust It is said that their leader an ex member of Congress a General in the Confederate army and a brilliant Southern gentleman now manages a disreputable house in Valparaiso Over its door is emblazoned In Dixie's land we take our stand, and beneath is inscribed The Alabama Free and Easy

There can be no doubt that neither England nor Scotland is yet ready for a Republican form of Government, but they both have rather an indecorous way of exhibiting their devotion to the Sovereign who rules Dei gratia Mobbing Mr Bradlaugh, breaking up Mr Odger's meetings smashing windows and furniture and uttering cat calls and cock crows in the House of Commons may be a very appropriate way of expressing sentiments of loyalty, but if so that loyalty must be of a peculiar [illegible] to say ridiculous kind

A London dispatch of the 9th inst says it is reported that at an interview at Baden Baden last week between Queen Victoria and the Prince Imperial of Prussia the question of the expediency of Her Majesty abdicating in favor of the Prince of Wales was discussed It is believed that the Queen who it is affirmed has for several years past seriously considered the question of abdication had decided to seek the counsel and advice of her royal relatives in Prussia before taking any decisive action in a matter of such grave importance

The Atlantic cable is a good thing to own According to the report of the company owning it, there was a net profit of a million dollars on last year's work Out of every four dollars received for the transmission of messages three were clear profit The dividend was ten per cent for the year after reserving a quarter of a million dollars for a renewal fund It is thought that a fourth cable would lead to a reduction of the tariff from ten dollars to less than four for every ten words and still leave profit enough on the investment Hence there is a great desire in this country, and in Europe, to see that fourth cable safely laid

With the exception of the journal which originally preferred the charges, pretty nearly every anti administration newspaper of any character concedes that the results of the Robeson investigation have thus far been altogether favorable to the Secretary and that his explanation of his conduct in the Secor affair has every appearance of candor and fairness It has been shown that it was Secretary Borie who convened the Board which allowed the claims and not Secretary Robeson as has been stated When Secretary Robeson came into office he found the Board in existence and simply approved its findings

Several reasons are given for the late visit of the Queen of Great Britain Among others a London letter says that the object of the visit of the Queen to Germany though ostensibly to see her half sister Princess Hohenlohe Langenberg is really to hush up the scandal which threatens the royal family The story is that Prince Teck son of Prince Alexander of Wurtemburg has been [illegible] [illegible] on his late travels by a well known London actress that Princess Teck Princess Mary of Cambridge who was born in 1833 and who is four years senior of her husband is so enraged thereby that she is about to apply for a divorce, to prevent which Her Majesty went to Baden

It is an epoch of trials at New York as well of investigation at Washington Some of these trials are of a simple nature but the most of them are involved and convoluted in a fearful degree The proposition said to have been made by Oakey Hall to prosecute Garvey the plasterer for presenting fraudulent bills when it was Hall's ring that got the benefit of the fraud will be accepted as an example of this If not then Stokes [illegible] will Stokes tried Fisk [illegible] [illegible] then the Grand Jury tried Stokes and indicted him, then Cardoza and Stokes tried the Grand Jury and now the Legislature is trying Cardoza Who will try the Legislature after its job is completed remains to be seen

A [illegible] exchange says [illegible] has achieved the greatest feat possible in politics It has pleased both parties The Republicans rejoice over the result as they would over any other triumph of a similar magnitude The Democrats see in it another blessing in disguise like that bestowed upon them by the grand Republican victory previously achieved in New Hampshire The Democracy we are told needed this additional reminder of the real political situation to wean them from their deep rooted follies This reminds us of the ragged disheartened Johnny [illegible] who was tired of hearing its feats claimed as victories and declared after all these blessings in disguise as they are called [illegible] it me for my part I want to have one without the disguise just for the novelty of the thing [illegible]

[illegible] Lord Granville [illegible] patch concerning the [illegible] [illegible] there is a [illegible] strongly entertained opinion among [illegible] [illegible] at Washington that the principal purpose of the British ministry in the correspondence is to bridge over the interval between now and the fifteenth of June the date on which the Geneva Arbitrators meet in order to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] and that at the last [illegible] they will allow the arbitration to proceed on the assumption that the indirect claims will [illegible] [illegible] since [illegible] first question which will come [illegible] the arbitrators will be the [illegible] [illegible] which has thus been raised In the meantime the case is being [illegible] [illegible] forwardly counsel on both sides The terms of the treaty required the filing of the cgh[illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] board by the fifteenth of the present month after which two [illegible] for preparation of the arguments which the arbitrators assemble [illegible] on the late above mentioned

FRIDAY MORNING APRIL 26 1872

CITY.

THE MISSING ALEXANDER.—We learn that the uncle of the missing man Alexander, supposed to have been murdered, dealt with, sent [a letter] to a brother of the supposed murdered man who resides over in Washington Territory a few days subsequent to his mystical disappearance. Yesterday he received a letter in response, but he states that nothing whatever had been seen or heard from the missing man. Several days ago the uncle wrote to some party at what is known as Douglas Mill situated in Cowlitz county, asking for information relative to Alexander's whereabouts. The reason for writing to that point is this, as we understand: On the day preceding the night on which Alexander disappeared several parties who had been employed at work for some time at these mills were in this city. As they were acquainted with the missing man the presumption is that possibly Alexander might have been induced to return with them and the before embarking with that object in view he had accidentally dropped his pocket book which constitutes one of the principal evidences that something wrong is connected with the affair. This appears to be a rather slender foundation on which to predicate hope but the uncle is determined to leave no stone unturned which may aid in the discovery of the whereabouts of his nephew or lead to a revolution [of] the perpetrators of the foul murder, if any has been committed. A letter is expected every mail from these mill parties. If nothing has been seen of Alexander by them the most natural conclusion in the premises is that he has been murdered and his body sunk with a weight which prevents it from rising to the surface or being discovered by search.

FENCING CLUB.—A party of young men in this city intend to start a fencing club for the purpose of affording themselves exercise and at the same time to become adepts in the use of the weapons [of the] "gentleman." The parties most interested in the organization are a Hibernian of the journal[istic] profession, a braw John Highlander and a disciple of Esculapius from New York. This party has sent to San Francisco for foils, masks and single sticks and will commence [fe]tting all [op]erations when the weapons arrive. The conversation of this group is entirely of carte and tierce thrusts octave disarms and the flanconade and [illegible]. This species of exercise is the best, as mind and body is exercised and it is besides the most intellectual of amusements. We hope our young men will take hold of the matter and make the club a success.

HEROIC BOY.—A horse attached to an express wagon was left standing yesterday for a moment while the driver, a small boy, went into a store. Like all other horses this one in question was liable to get frightened at what he did not understand. Presently something came along, and off the animal went. The driver saw the situation and just had time to catch hold of the leather strap attached to the end gate as the horse shot off up the street. The little fellow hung on with a courage and resolution worthy of a better cause, although he was nearly lifted off the ground by the constantly accelerated speed. By a great effort he at last sprang into the wagon and grasped the reins just in time to prevent a collision with another team.

FOR MONTANA.—Capt Eastwick who is in the employ of the North Pacific Railroad company is now in this city. He is engaged in organizing a surveying party for operations in Montana during the coming summer. The surveyors, engineers and principal men will be engaged here but the chappers, camp tenders, packers etc will be hired in Umatilla county, for which purpose a person has already been sent thither. Captain Eastwick expects to be able to move towards the scene of his Summer's operations by the middle of the coming month.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST.—Up to date there has been paid into the City Treasury $36 175. A delinquent list of about $11 000 remains unpaid. The fact that the day of grace expired on last Tuesday, has produced an accelerating effect on new payers. However a respite of only three weeks will be granted, at the expiration of which time, the amount then remaining delinquent will be quietly handed over to the tender mercies of the Chief of Police.

EAST SIDE FREIGHT.—The freight train yesterday afternoon, brought down the following [li]st of freight: 7 cars flour, 6 cars wheat, 4 cars mdse, and two cars small freight, butter, bacon, eggs, etc. Sent to the front this forenoon 8 cars iron and 10 cars mdse. The bark Orient [is] discharging iron. The locomotive J L Hallett, has been landed and sent to the shops to be placed in condition to take the road.

PROGRAMME CHANGED.—As will be seen by our advertising columns owing to the dampness and coldness of the weather the programme of [the day] for the Odd Fellows celebration to-day has been materially changed. The picnic is indefinitely postponed and the oration will be delivered at the Court House in this city. The arrangements for the ball to-night stand as previously announced.

JANE A. FALKINBURG.—This bark, Capt Cathcart reached here from Honolulu S I yesterday, in tow of the tug Astoria. The Falkinburg sailed from the Islands on the 10th inst. Fair winds and fine weather. On the 22d she reached Tillamook Head, having made the voyage from land to land in eleven and a half days. She brought a full cargo of sugar, molasses, and tropical fruits.

CARRIER PIGEONS.—Several kinds of pigeons of an improved breed were brought up on the Oriflamme. Among them is a pair of the genuine carrier pigeons. They were purchased in San Francisco by Mr Weidler for the sum of $25.

CORRECTION.—The name Jos Henderson appended to the call for the Republican Campaign Club" published yesterday should have been Jas Henderson, Jr.

NOT ARRIVED.—As we go to press the steamer California due from Victoria, had not reached the wharf. She is announced to sail on Saturday next at 6 o clock p m.

ARM BROKEN.—A man named Jones had one of his arms badly broken yesterday. Dr Watkins was called and performed the required surgical operation.

RAFT.—The Oneonta towed up a large raft of logs from down the river yesterday. They belong to Messrs Abrams & Hogue.

HONOLULU FILES.—Capt Cathcart of the Falkinburg, will accept our compliments for a file of late Honolulu papers.

LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE OF TRINITY CHURCH

The laying of the corner stone of the proposed edifice of Trinity Church, corner of Sixth and [Oak] streets, a description of which has been given in our columns, was laid yesterday afternoon with the customary rites and ceremonies of the Episcopal Church. The ceremonies commenced at [fo]ur o'clock and lasted the space of half an hour. Throughout they were solemn and impressive. A number of clergymen of the church from abroad, including the pastors at Salem, Milwaukie and Vancouver participated in the [illegible] corner stone services. Bishop [Morris] [illegible] assisted by the Rev George Burton pastor at Trinity Church and Rev J [illegible] Rosenberg. The ministers and the [illegible] rest proceeded [illegible] from the [illegible] the old church at the appointed hour and followed by a large number of the congregation [illegible] the pupils from St Helen's Hall, repaired to the [foundat]ion where a large number of ladies and gentlemen had already assembled. Immediately following the ministers came the vestrymen of the church: Hon M [illegible], Dr R Glisan, Dr [illegible] Wilson, Sylvester Pennoyer, [illegible] Russel, C H Lewis, John McCraken and [illegible] Brooke. On reaching the platform the 122d Psalm was repeated in concert, after which the bishop, clergy, wardens and vestrymen ranged themselves around the corner stone. Address and a brief prayer was offered by the bishop, after which the choir sang that sublime ancient anthem (Old Hundred). The corner stone being laid in its place the bishops struck the stone three times at the mention of each name coming [illegible] the Trinity and [illegible] consecrated and dedicated [illegible] the foundation of which the stone was a portion of the foundation to the service of Almighty God. This being concluded with the usual responses from the clergy, an appropriate hymn was sung. Rev John Rosenburg then came forward and read the names of the different articles which had been deposited in the box under the corner stone. The following is the list:

1 Copy of the Holy Scriptures. 2 Copy of the book of Common Prayer. 3 Copy of the Canons of the Prot Epis Church in the United States of America. 4 Journal of the 19th Convocation of the Missionary Jurisdiction of Oregon and Washington Territory. 5 Bishop Morris last Annual Report to the Board of Missions. 6 Catalogue of St Helens Hall. 7 Catalogue of Bishop Scott Grammar School. 8 Prot Epis Almanac with list of clergy and churches in the United States. 9 Copy of the Oregon Church man for April 1872. 10 A Monograph on Trinity Parish prepared by Judge Deady and Dr Wilson. 11 Copy of the Portland Directory for 1872. 12 Copy of the Oregon Almanac for 1872, S J McCormick, publisher. 13 Copy of the Daily OREGONIAN April 25 1872. 14 Copy of the Evening Bulletin, April 24 1872. 15 Copy of the Daily Herald April 25 1872. 16 Copy of the Dramatic Chronicle April 25 1872. 17 Names of the subscribers to the Bishop Scott Memorial Window. 18 Names of the subscribers to the building fund of Trinity Parish. 19 Copy of the Pacific Churchman April 18 1872. 20 A package sent by Ladd & Tilton, Bankers. 21 A package sent by Gill & Steele—Diocesan Depositaries.

Rev George Burton the Pastor of the Church then delivered a most beautiful eloquent and impressive address to the members of the congregation. We regret that want of space prevents a synopsis of this appropriate address being published. At the conclusion of Mr Burton's remarks the Anthem Hymn Gloria in excelsis was sung by the choir. Prayer and Benediction by the Bishop, and the ceremonies were at an end.

ANKENY'S NEW MARKET.

Portland with a population of 10 000 or 11 000 souls in her steps of progress from a few huts in the wilderness, to a city busy with all the activity of commercial life has not been slow. In all that appertains to public improvements her people have been as a general thing far seeing and liberal. Few cities of her size can boast of better improved streets, finer residences, handsomer stores, better hotels or fewer dilapidated shanties or washing tenements than Portland. But other improvements are needed and it was with a view of calling the attention of the people to one of these necessities that we suggested through our columns a short time since the erection of a public market. In a place as large as this city the establishment of such an institution can but be beneficial to the entire community. Such a place will soon become a sort of headquarters for the numerous producers of all varieties of provisions in our vicinity who are now in the habit of either peddling the products of their farms, gardens or dairies on the street, or selling them to the groceryman through whose hands they pass to the consumer. The establishment of a public market will afford facilities for the buyer and seller to meet and make their exchanges without the intervention of third parties, and thus secure mutual advantages. The city owns a block of land which we understand was dedicated to the public for this especial purpose but for some reason—a good one perhaps—the people have failed to take any definite steps toward carrying out the enterprise suggested.

Business tact however seeing that such enterprises are not failures elsewhere and that the chances of success are favorable has suggested to one of our citizen capitalists the plan of undertaking this needed improvement on his own responsibility. What measure of profit shall accrue to Captain Ankeny in this enterprise we are not capable of judging, but that it will be of benefit to the public at large we entertain no doubt.

The building which he is erecting on First street for this and other purposes when completed will be one of the finest and largest in the city. Its dimensions are as follows:

The building extends nearly from First to Second streets, a space of five feet being left at one end in the event that North First street should subsequently be widened, a distance of 195 feet, with a frontage on each street of 60 feet. The proposed edifice will be three stories high. The height of the first story to be occupied by the market will be 20 feet in the clear, second and third stories combined 38 feet. The two upper stories are intended for a fine large theater—to supply a want so long experienced in this city. For about fifty feet from the front end on First street the second and third stories will be separated by a floor and fitted up into rooms, offices etc. The remaining 145 feet, reaching from the point where the two stories are merged into one back to the western front of the building, will be fitted up for a gallery, private boxes, parquette etc with a stage to correspond with the size of the building.

The first story, which it is the intention to describe now, will be divided into four large compartments, each one commencing near the end of the building and extending along the side of the walls. At the center of the building these divisions will be separated by a hall 14 feet wide which transverses the room from north to south. Each of these divisions have a depth of about one third the width of the building and are subdivided into six stalls, each one 13½ by 1[illegible] feet, which makes a total of twenty four. From one end of the room to the other the whole distance extends a hall twenty three feet wide and flanking on one side the four divisions of the market. This hall will afford very ample room for pedestrian customers etc. Around each of the four apartments placed [illegible] counters [illegible] ed with a marble [illegible] The [illegible] but one entrance to each of these apartments from the two halls which cross at right angles but there are six private entrances and no public from each side of the building.

At the end there are four large entrances for the egress and ingress of visitors and customers. Thirty large wooden columns surmounted with Corinthian caps support the second story placed along at regular intervals.

An abundance of gas and water accommodations will be provided the market. Water pipes of sufficient capacity to supply the constant demand will extend along each side of wall and each of the twenty four stalls will be supplied with two large gas chandeliers, while five large [ch]andeliers with numerous branches will be placed at regular intervals along the spacious hall. These [li]ghts [illegible] will be sufficient to keep the vast [ro]om b[right] [illegible]

Love Letters

Let us take a glance at the love letters of some men eminent in the professions. And first of all of divines. Chalmers says in his diary just before he was married: "Dismissing all anticipations of heaven on earth may I betake myself soberly and determinedly to the duties of the married state." We hope the good wife felt flattered by this expression of Christian resignation. He was very different from another Scotch divine of almost equal eminence who during his honeymoon so far anticipated events as to date his letters from heaven. The love letters of Whitefield are curious. He said in them that if he knew himself he was quite free from the foolish passion which the world calls love. These eminent theologians were not at all unlike Racine. He married because his confessor recommended him to marry, and thought that in this way he would best overcome his proclivity for making verses. "When he resolved to marry," says his son, "neither love nor interest had anything to do with his choice, and in so serious an affair he consulted reason only." His wife did not know the difference between poetry and prose and never read a line of her husband's tragedies except, perhaps, the titles. One of the briefest of theological love stories relates to the marriage of Robert Hall. He made up his mind that he would marry his servant. So he went into the kitchen and said: "Betty, do you love the Lord?" "Yes, sir," said Betty. "Betty, do you love me?" he next asked. "I hope so, master," she answered, and they were happily married.

The men of science do not appear, on the whole, to have been equally happy. As a rule it is not for a man of science to fall in love with a woman of science. Sir Humphrey Davy tells his mother: "I am the happiest of men in the hope of a union with a woman equally distinguished for virtue, talents and accomplishments." He joyously tells his brother: "Mrs. Appreece has consented to marry me, and when the event takes place I shall not envy kings, princes or potentates." Sir Henry Holland describes the sensation which Mrs. Appreece made in Edinburgh societies, when even a regius professor went down on his knees in the street to fasten her shoe. Nevertheless the marriage turned out to be altogether unsuitable and unfortunate. Count Rumford, a philosopher, if ever there was one, married Madame Lavoisier, a philosopher herself and the widow of a philosopher. Almost the first passage in a youthful note book was: "Love is a noble passage of the mind." He was four years in courting the clever Frenchwoman. We do not know what he wrote to her before marriage; this is the way in which he wrote about her afterward: "I have the misfortune to be married to one of the most imperious, tyrannical, unfeeling women that ever existed, and whose perseverance in pursuing an obstacle is equal to her profound cunning and wickedness in framing it." He explains one of his troubles: "She goes and pours boiling water on some of my beautiful flowers!" which, we admit, was at least eccentric conduct on the part of the lady. Yet two very eminent living men—M. Guizot and Sir Henry Holland—knew her and, indeed, speak very kindly of her memory. M. Guizot's own marriage was under sufficiently remarkable circumstances. He gained his wife's heart by writing anonymous articles in a periodical for her when she was laid up, and these papers might be regarded as a novel species of love letters.

FAILURES IN SOCIETY.—Society is full of failures that need never have been made; full of men who have never succeeded, full of women who in the first half of their days did nothing but eat and sleep and simper, and in the last half have done nothing but perpetuate their follies and weakness. The world is full, I say, of such people, full of men, in every trade and profession, who do not amount to anything; and I do not speak irreverently, and I trust not without due charity, without making due allowance for the inevitable in life, when I say that God and thoughtful men are weary of their presence. Every boy ought to improve on his father, every girl grow into a nobler, gentler, more self-denying womanhood than the mother. No reproduction of former types will give the world the perfect type. I know not where the Millennium is, as measured by distance of time, but I do know, and so do you, that it is a great way off as measured by human growth and expansion. We have no such men and women yet, no age has ever had any, as shall stand on the earth in that age of peace that will not come until men are worthy of it.—Rev. W. H. Murray.

It is now fifty-seven years since the battle of New Orleans was fought, and yet there are considerably over a hundred veterans in that city. One of them, in his statement to the pension agent, who inquired his age, said:

"I reckon I'se 'bout forty, sah, pears to me I'se dat old."

"But, my man, I'm referring to the war of 1812," explained the official.

"Of course you are."

"Well, then, if you are only forty years of age you couldn't have been there."

"Couldn't I?"

"No."

"And ain't no veteran?"

"No."

"Well, den, boss, jus make me a volunteer. I ain't proud, bout it."

A NEW VERSION OF THAT CHERRY TREE STORY.—Washington's parents were very particular as to little Georgie's playfellow, never allowing any but his little cousins or nephews to visit him. One of these playfellows, and in some way connected, was one of the Custis boys. Among other cognomens bestowed upon this youth at his christening was that of Isaac. Well, Isaac and George were playing together in the orchard on the day when the historic cherry was disfigured.

The parental Washington came along and was very much enraged to see his favorite tree cut and hacked in a very bungling manner. So he said George gazed for a moment at the riding whip in the old gentleman's hand, and then replied: "Father, I cannot tell a lie—Ike cut it with little my hatchet."—Figaro.

The volume of trade this week has been [illegible] that of some time past. Country merchants [illegible] the difficulty of [illegible] Remittances from them are [illegible] prompt [illegible] Wool and all extra fabrics are easy. Boots and shoes—Trade is well supplied with Eastern and California stock and the local demand is to some extent by stock manufactured here. The demand for Nails and Building Hardware is steady and prices are still going higher. Sugar—Market well supplied except with the best grades of Hawaiian.

Wooden ware from the new factory at Oregon City will soon be on the market.

Houses will shortly be established in San Francisco dealing exclusively in single articles as Coffee, Sugar, Teas, Spices, etc. Leading staples are concentrating in the hands of men who possess comprehensive views of the vastness of the trade on this coast, and cargo trade sales will be the order of the time as in Eastern cities.

The remarkable supply of ready cash in San Francisco and decreasing rates of interest are commented on by the press of that city. Loans on good security were never so easy to effect, and large sums are being placed at eight per cent per annum.

Quotations of Wool in San Francisco are fluctuating and difficult to get. The lots offering in the market are mainly in the hands of go-betweens who have been traversing the country and purchasing all obtainable. From 50 to 55c will cover the range for long clean staple and 35c for burry. Many of the largest sheep owners in the interior counties sold under contract some time ago their whole clip for this season at 25c a pound.

Domestic Produce.

WHEAT—There are some indications of returning animation in the market. Choice lots for export command $2 ₩ cental at San Francisco. Holders here appear to ask about $1 80, but this is more than they can get. Buyers seem unwilling to offer more than $1 60. A telegram from San Francisco to one of our leading houses this week contained a proposition to send a vessel here for cargo if Wheat could be purchased at satisfactory rates, but the reply did not give sufficient inducement.

FLOUR—It is thought by some that ere long there may be some advance in the Flour market. Prices remain, however, as heretofore quoted. Standard brands $6 75 ₩ bbl; choice country $5 25@5 50 outside and superfine brands $4 75@5.

APPLES—Good green are scarce and wanted. Ready boxed for shipment they will command $1 per box. Dried Apples have been somewhat higher this week with larger inquiry. We quote at 8c ₩ lb.

Some are [illegible] makers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid them is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians, in nine cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearny street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 1,957.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with [illegible] facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Disease.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering from [illegible] [illegible] absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid countenances and disfigured faces and their broken [illegible] tions disqualifying them for the happiness or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid [illegible] thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let guardians, friends attend to those who are afflicted with any of these horrible life-destroying [illegible] they are cared for and cured before it be too late. [illegible] them immediately to Doctor Gibbon [illegible] made private diseases his especial study for years and [illegible] is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to all who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing [illegible] in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians [illegible] Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and strictly inquire or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, all solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth [illegible] sexes to an almost [illegible] producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, tongue [illegible] sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief is not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his disease [illegible] by any of the San Francisco quacks.
